How many kids are in the LEGO Club?
Canyon Wendt, 12, Texas

Well, let's see... there's you... and me... and all those people over there... The answer, Canyon, is lots and lots and LOTS of kids are members of the LEGO Club, and more join every day! In fact, there are LEGO Club members all over the world! Members receive the LEGO Magazine in the U.S., Canada, the United Kingdom, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, France, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, Singapore and Hong Kong! Plus, many kids in other countries visit the LEGO Club area on www.LEGO.com/club

I am a huge BIONICLE™ fan and I would like to know how to pronounce the names of the Toa.
Casey Whitesell, 12, California

Hmmmm... I'm not seeing anything in my crystal ball on this subject. Oh, wait, this is my bowling ball - my crystal ball's over there! Okay, let's see, here is a quick Toa pronunciation guide:
Pohatu - Poe-HAH-to; Onua - o-NEW-uh; Gali - GAH-lee;
Tahu - TAH-hoo; Lewa - Lay-WUH; Kopaka - Koe-PAH-kah

How do you actually make the shapes of LEGO bricks and other pieces? Please answer this question and put it in the magazine.
Todd McCann, 11, California

Redini gets this question a lot! Good thing I know the answer. LEGO elements start their life as tiny plastic pellets called granules. Trucks filled with granules drive up to the LEGO factory where giant hoses suck up the granules and then dump them into three-story high metal silos. These granules are melted in molding machines, and then the liquid plastic is fed through a mold. The mold gives the plastic its special shape and makes it a LEGO piece! There are different molds for plates, bricks, beams, and mini-figures, just to name a few. After the pieces are ejected from the molding machine, they are ready to be packed into boxes!

How come you only make LEGO sets of popular things?
Newt (no last name given), 9, Michigan

Well, Newt, we tried making LEGO sets of unpopular things - you know, "LEGO Trip to the Dentist," "LEGO Too Much Homework," "LEGO Fun in the Sewer" - but they didn't do too well. So then I said to myself, "Self, maybe we should make sets of things people want to play with!" The rest, of course, is history!

Photographing Your Models

You've put a lot of work into your model, so you want to make sure your photo looks as good as possible. Follow these tips for getting the best looking shots.

Unless you are making a special background for your model, try to choose a shooting space that is simple and uncluttered. If possible find a background that is either much lighter or much darker than the object you are shooting.

"Edwards Air Force Base"
James Creswell, age 7,
of Texas

"Wizard World"
Alex Jania, age 10, of Texas

"LEGO Brick"
Justin Powell, age 13, of Florida

"Harry's Fun House"
Austin McDaniel, age 5

"HULA-GIRL and MEOW-MEOW"
Melissa Fentress, age 7, of California

"Flags of the World"
Scott Belcher, age 5, of Virginia

"Excalibur"
Bradley James Richins, age 13,
of California

See if your camera has a "macro" function. This setting is good for getting very close to your subject, filling the entire frame with the object can really show off your handiwork.

When possible shoot in a space that is brightly lit by the sun but try to avoid direct sunlight. Direct patches of light can cause hot spots and glare on your object while making the rest of the image appear too dark.

TOP SECRET

Secret Mission Briefing: Energy Crisis

BRIEFING

The national power grid has been sabotaged and severely damaged. Without power, the entire region is on the verge of crisis. Your mission is to navigate around obstacles to access the grid's energy reserve, flip the override switch to stop the energy drain and restore power.

But be careful – the sabotage has set off dangerous impulse generators throughout the grid. If you strike one, a generator will drain valuable energy from your SPYBOTICS Vehicle. Also, static electricity in the air could disrupt your control systems.

Time is running out, agent – get to work!

THE SET-UP

You can use a desk lamp as the grid energy reserve, and other items from around your room – books, boxes, other LEGO sets – as the impulse generators.

Are lights on the front of your Spybot will indicate your energy levels in this mission. Each time you hit an impulse generator, you will lose arc lights and your Spybot will slow down.

If you reach the grid energy reserve while you still have power remaining, you have done the job!

GALIDOR

DEFENDERS OF THE OUTER DIMENSION

The Outer Dimension is filled with strange and powerful creatures... and all of them glinch! Here are just a few of the amazing beings you can create using parts from your GALIDOR action figures:

Nick's Last Defense

Glinched using parts from 8310 Nick, 8311 Gorm, and 8319 Aquart. In an effort to protect his friends from a pack of hungry creatures in a hostile realm, Nick glinched into the most fearsome thing he could imagine: a combination of himself, Aquart, and Gorm! This did the trick, scaring the creatures away and giving Nick and the rest time to escape from the realm.

Gorm Stalks the Skies

Glinched using parts from 8311 Gorm, 8313 Nick Deluxe, and 8318 Ooni.

The evil Gorm is able to keep an eye on the conquered realms from the sky. His wings give him incredible speed, while the legs of an Ooni help him to maneuver quickly when in the air. He can also use them to grab enemies and carry them high off the ground! Those who oppose Gorm have learned very quickly to keep an eye on the sky.

Ooni Rex

Glinched using parts from 8318 Ooni, 8312 Jens, and 8324 Euripides. This frightening creature is dreaded by all who dare to travel between the realms of the Outer Dimension. How it came to be is a mystery, but its mighty arms and legs and metallic shell make it a fierce fighter. Ooni Rex has been spotted in the Viniculum near Kek, leading a particularly nasty swarm of Ooni.
